

CONSERVATION WALKS

This permissive path leads up to Crag Stones, an impressive rock formation, and to Marl Moor from where there are extensive views of the Bowland Fells. From Crag Stones you can look west over Ashnott Farm. Here pastures and meadows are under conservation management for the benefit of flowering plants and ground nesting birds. There are species-rich wet flushes on the land above Ashnott and in the pasture adjoining Bonstone Brook. On the upland pastures and moor you may spot birds like curlew, lapwing, short eared owl and hen harrier.

THE ROUTE ACROSS MARL MOOR IS UNDEFINED. GOOD NAVIGATION IS ESSENTIAL.
